FALL PROTECTION /
CONSTRUCTION DIVISION

January 22, 2008

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

We are very happy to announce that as of January 22nd Mike Scharnell has taken on the responsibilities of Product Manager for the Unistrut Fall Protection Division.

With this new focus, Unistrut has all of the capabilities necessary to become the industry leader for engineered fall protection in the United States. With locations Nationwide and a very well respected name in the construction and manufacturing industries, we expect this new division to be a recognizable name in the fall protection industry by the end of 2008.

Unistrut Fall Protection Division will be a turnkey installer with engineering, design, and fabrication capabilities. We will also provide training and inspections for new and existing fall protection systems. While we will not be a soft goods distributor we will be partnering with select manufacturers and distributors across the US to provide the best equipment for our customers.

Our Fall Protection Division will be based in Southern California and Itasca, Illinois. As opportunities come up, please do not hesitate to contact us for design, engineering, consulting, and installation.

We look forward to working with you,
